122. Comments

- This school has tons of potential. It is in the perfect location and the campus provides a great college feel for the students. The facilities are good and constantly improving. But above all the impact that the school can have on the city of Fitchburg is astounding.
My best experiences were with Donald Tarallo Jr. He is an exceptionally intelligent professor that helped me so much in my college career. I am now confident with my graphic design skills and about having a future in that field. Without him I would not have been ready to tackle the Working World. He is helpful, kind, and has amazing teaching skills. His eye for detail and being able to inform you what is precisely right or wrong is crucial to have in this field.
- I honestly have no idea what I will be doing after graduation. I have a few options in mind but I won't know until the fall or early spring semester. I tried to answer these questions as honest as possible but I'm not 100% sure what will happen or how much I should expect to be paid.
I am a good student whose always loved school. This quickly changed when I came to FSU, particularly while going through the film/video concentration. Instead of encouraging me to reach for greatness, many professors often told me to suppress my creativity, in favor of making films that were easier and more traditional. In other words, I felt like we were being trained to be clones, each raised to do the same exact thing in the film/video world.
- Being a female, I am outnumbered by males in my film/video field. Throughout my four years at FSU, I only had one female film/video professor. This is extremely discouraging, and I've always wished that I had some more women in my department to relate to.
- Also, I had a very negative experience with Paul Concemi, the EQ manager. At times, I felt condescended and even harassed by him. I never once showed him disrespect or handled equipment in an irresponsible way. Yet, I still received aggressive emails from him, and at one time, even abusive comments which indirectly and non-constructively criticized my methods of work. I feel scared when I have to be in his presence or handle equipment from EQ.
I also hated the uncertainty of the internship program. I reached out to Charles Sides several times, both through email and in person, but never got a clear picture of how the internship program works. This, I fear, will true limit and sabotage me when applying for internships.
