This school (administration) does not care about the student's success, otherwise they would help the students get out of the college in four years. But that is bad for the bottom line, the longer a student is in school the more money the university makes. I also think the new library is terrible, the chairs are very uncomfortable and the hours are too short, we need a 24-7 library. Also I think this school disrespects the computer science department, the school sticks English classes in our electronic's labs in Edgerly Hall, the only place I can do work! The school would never put an English class in a Biology or Chemistry lab so don't do it to us, it toatal disrepect. Also, why the computer science department is disrespected is you spend all this money on creating a "game design" major, what a waste, there are no jobs in Mass for game design and very little in the USA, all those jobs have moved to Canada and the UK, due to lucative take insetives, just like what is happing with our domestice film production. The school should have done their research before wasting all that money. And on op of that you build a new science building when were are using the oldest building on campus along with the oldest equipment. No wonder why people think Fitchburg State Computer Science is a joke, because the school needs to invest in the department or this major will never produce good soild programmers that are competive enough to get a job. I will never give money to this school because it is a joke. And all this writing is probly not worth it, you'll never read this, if you do I would love to know. ~Paul LeFebvre
