Faculty Research and Scholarship Award

Purpose of Award

To recognize and encourage excellence in faculty scholarship.

Eligibility

All full-time, tenured faculty members are eligible to apply.

Application Procedure

To apply for this prestigious award or nominate a faculty member, address a letter of application/nomination and include a resume, supporting documentation, and a letter of collegial testimony to:

Faculty Research and Scholarship Award Committee, c/o Joanne Rivard, no later than March 10, 2017.

Description of the Award

The Faculty Research and Scholarship Award will consist of a $3000 check, a campus parking space for one year, acknowledgement in the May commencement program, and recognition at the annual faculty awards event in May.

Composition of the Award Committee

The Vice President for Academic Affairs and previous years' recipients will review applications and nominations. Each year, the most recent recipient is added to the selection committee.

Supporting Materials

Each applicant should provide sufficient supporting material for the committee to evaluate. Such material should include at least the following information:

- A statement certifying that the applicant meets the eligibility requirements.
- A biographical sketch and/or curriculum vitae or resume, which must include a record of her/his research record.
- Complete documentation attesting to the applicant’s research.
Research and Scholarship is measured by contributions to the knowledge and/or practice of the discipline as evidenced by qualitative and quantitative research published in refereed scholarly journals. Measures of mastery include collegial testimony, as well as a sample of published documents.
